The attention of the School of Sport to the quality of Training Processes

- In order to ensure in a systematic way the complete and careful satisfaction of the needs and expectations of all parties concerned and in compliance with the mission, the School of Sport has undertaken an organizational path aimed at managing the quality of learning processes.
- In this context, the definition of structured mode for the design and delivery of training courses, which are subject to a precise objective of the direction, the efforts and the validity of the choices made were embedded in a system of Quality Management.
- In order to ensure the effectiveness of the above system, the School of Sport has been, by the intervention of a third party independent and qualified, represented by the body TÜV Italy, to certify its Quality Management System in conformity with the international standard ISO 9001:2000.
- This goal is not to the School of Sport a point of arrival, but an important stage in the search of the continuous improvement of the quality of training processes and in constant research effort of the satisfaction of all parties involved.

Expectations

- Similar Training course structures (format + contents) in the partner Federations
- Sharing the learning strategy in the different Sailing Federations involved in this project
- Continuous comparison of the taught arguments' contents
- Immediate recognition of the qualification as Federal Sailing Instructor among the National Sailing Federations partner of the project

Making mobility real

Necessary conditions for ECVET implementation

The European credit system for vocational education and training (ECVET) is a powerful tool for increasing cross-border cooperation in education and training. Its adoption will make it possible for all citizens to use their qualifications and learning outcomes in any new learning or working experience across the European Union.

Cedefop has been responsible for monitoring implementation of ECVET in the Member States. Its reports of 2010 and 2011 show how much progress has been achieved. Common guidelines are now needed to help formulate national strategies.

In this booklet Cedefop considers the conditions and measures that Member States need to have in place in 2012, if they are to fully implement the 2009 ECVET recommendation.

The publication has been prepared in close cooperation with the European Commission, the members of the ECVET users group, and supporting organisations such as the ECVET secretariat and the network of European agencies for lifelong learning.

Proposals

- Organize a working group, meeting at least once every year to compare the National (coach) training realities and every issue linked to the training programs and strategies.
- Developing as more trainers exchange as possible participating at national training courses.
